

Integration Developer

Adecco Information Technology connects the best IT experts with the right job opportunities in leading IT companies. We are a team of dedicated consultants specialized in providing recruitment and HR services in the IT industry. For our client, a US-based company integrating e-commerce, mobile and cloud solutions, we are looking for an experienced developers willing to work on the newest technologies in their team of engineers.

Main responsibilities:

- Building and supporting customer-facing products that provide innovative solutions to challenging programming and design problems
- Participating in all aspects of the Software Development Lifecycle (SDLC) including definition, design, implementation, testing, delivery and support
- Designing, coding, testing, debugging and making document software modifications using WebSphere Message Broker, WebSphere Datapower and other integrations technologies and Java
- Incorporating DevOps processes into all work (continuous development, deployment & test
- Analyzing business data
- Accurately scoping effort, identify risks and clearly communicating trade-offs with team members and other stakeholders
- Work closely in a face paced environment as a part of an agile team

Requirements:

- Minimum of 2 years of Integration development experience
- Experience in XML / XSL / Java Script / REST / JSON
- Experience with Transport protocols (HTTP/MQ)
- Security (Identity management / encryption / digital signatures)
- Experience with integrating complex systems using web services standards, such as API & Microservices
- Good understanding of Agile methodologies and best practices
- Nice to have: Knowledge of IBM Datapower appliances and Datapower experience
- Experience with continuous integration frameworks
- Experience in designing and developing integrations

Candidate profile:

- A great communicator both in how you listen and how you engage others in discussion
- Exhibit a selfless dedication to our customers, our team and our values
- Exhibit a deep belief in the product/project
- Demonstrate a willingness to do whatever you can to make Zilker better